Linda:

1. Is the bank agreeable to the September 6th and October 2nd payment dates for August and September interest?
2. The contract extension needs to make clear that "earnest money" credited to the promissory note portion of the purchase price does not include the interest payments from August 7, 2007 forward. The conjoining of these two topics back-to-back in Paragraph e implies otherwise, or is at least potentially confusing or ambiguous.

Bob and Sam

Attached is a draft closing date extension amendment Sam started and I finished.

Sam's document, which I appreciate him getting started, made the necessary changes in the second paragraph and left the first paragraph for me to edit.

So, my changes to Sam's document appear as red redlining.

See what you think of these changes. I think it's ready to go to Ellis but ask Bob to comment or approve.

I have to travel most of tomorrow with a client so will be largely out of touch. I can check e mail, but at lunch will be my first opportunity

If this is ok as is, I ask Bob to "reply to all" and say that, then Sam can get it to Ellis, etc.

If not ok as is, let me know by e mail and I will call in at lunch.

Thanks
